FIRST MEETING ON NEXT SUNDAY

Men's Big Meeting Movement That Was so Successful is Started Again.

GOOD SPEAKER FOR THE FIRST

Dr. Guy Potter Benton, President of Miami University, to Deliver Address.

The first of the series of Men's Big Meetings will be held in Rushville on next Sunday, December 6. Last season Rushville made a reputation for big attendance at these meetings and from every standpoint they were the most successful of any held in Indiana. The best talent on the lecture platform was secured and those in charge this year intend to sustain the enviable reputation established last year. The splendid audiences that turn out to the meetings here make it possible for the committee to induce some of the biggest men in the country to come here. It is an incentive for bringing out all there is in a man for a speaker to be greeted by a large and enthusiastic gathering and in a large measure proves inspiring.

The success of the meetings this year depends upon the support given them by the citizens who are striving to live in a high, moral atmosphere and who are interested in the coming generation. At each meeting there will be music of high order, both vocal and instrumental. A mammoth orchestra is being organized and will play at each session.

The first speaker engaged this season is Dr. Guy Potter Benton, president of the Miami University. He will address the meeting at the Christian church at 2:30 o'clock and his subject will be "The Life That Now Is." He is a forcible speaker and pleasing talker and has addressed the Men's Big Meeting at the English Oper House, Indianapolis, with great credit to himself and the university he presides over.

The Men's Big Meetings are conducted under the auspices of a joint committee, representing all the Protestant churches in the city. Those members are A. E. Martin and John D. Megee of the First Presbyterian church; R. A. Innis and T. A. Craig of the United Presbyterian church; H. C. Flint and Ab Denning from St. Paul's M. E. church, and B. F. Miller, Lincoln Guffin and John A. Tittsworth of the Christian church.

The joint committee has effected the following organization: R. A. Innis, president; John A. Tittsworth, secretary, and A. E. Martin, treasurer.

Committee on Talent—R. A. Innis, John A. Tittsworth and A. E. Martin. Committee on Vocal Music—Lincoln Guffin, T. A. Craig and F. R. McClanahan.

Committee on Instrumental Music—G. C. Wyatt and Albert Wagoner.

Committee on Advertising—Edward Sherman, H. C. Flint and W. A. Jones.

ATTRACTED LARGE CROWD

Thanksgiving Shoot Given by the Local Gun Club.

About one hundred and fifty spectators were in attendance at the shoot, given by the Gun Club Thursday afternoon. The contest was enjoyed by the participants as well as the spectators and was a success in every way.

Charles Bassler, Ben Cox, Lon Harcourt and E. Watt of Connersville won turkeys by their excellent scores.

MISSING WORD CONTEST.

Beginning with this evening's Missing Word contest, we will receive the answers the next morning after the paper is published instead of the second day. Monday morning from 7:45 to 10:45 we will receive the answers for Friday's and Saturday's contest. Tuesday morning we will receive the answers to Monday's contest, and so on.

GREAT INTEREST IS MANIFESTED

Second Meeting for Men in Connersville to be Addressed by Rev. Cowling.

SENATOR MOORE TO PRESIDE

The second of the big men's meetings will be held at the Christian church Sunday afternoon at 3:15, says the Connersville Examiner.

Rev. J. F. Cowling, the successful pastor of the Rushville Presbyterian church, will address the meeting.

Rev. Cowling speaks without manuscript, has an unusually pleasing address and has had a wide experience with men. He has been very successful in his work and presents the highest type of manly qualities.

The first of these meetings held on November 8, was a success in every respect. The men are speaking words of praise on every hand for these meetings. Senator E. E. Moore will preside at this meeting.

RECEIVED PAINFUL INJURY TO HIS FOOT

Marshall Cooper Was Thrown Violently to the Ground and Run Over by Wagon.

AND DISLOCATED HIS ANKLE

Marshall Cooper, while moving his household goods yesterday, received a painful injury to his foot and ankle on the Shelbyville pike, about one-half mile west of this city.

The wagon on which he was riding was loaded with goods and one of the side boards slipped, allowing the seat to fall, and throwing Cooper violently to the ground under the wagon. The wheels ran over his right leg, dislocating the ankle and severely mashing the bones in the instep of the foot.

Mr. Cooper was engaged in moving from the B. F. Riley farm, west of this city, to the William Lewark farm north of this city.

STEEL COACHES NOW IN USE

Mail Clerks and Mail Will be Protected in Wrecks.

The first one of the new steel mail cars has been put into use on this division of the Pennsylvania railroad, says the Greenfield Reporter. It is constructed wholly of steel except the doors and coverings for the windows. These coverings are of wood for the purpose of providing an escape for the mail clerks in case of accidents or wrecks.

COLEMAN TALKED ON CORN

Local Expert Delivered Address at Greensburg Corn Show.

Says the Greensburg News: Senator M. E. Newhouse had a communication from T. A. Coleman this morning, consenting to give a talk on corn growing at the Corn Show in the court room tomorrow, Saturday, afternoon. Mr. Coleman is an expert in growing and his talk will be both interesting and instructive to our farmer friends. Everybody invited, as it is a free and open meeting.

INJURED OPTIC HAD TO BE REMOVED

Successful Operation Performed Upon Russell Casady at Dr. Holmes Sanitarium.

REPLACED BY A GLASS EYE

Russell Casady, whose left eye was seriously injured by a stray shot while out hunting several days ago, had his eye removed at the Dr. Holmes sanitarium in Cincinnati yesterday.

It was first thought by the attending physician that the shot could be taken out without injuring the eye. But when an X-ray photograph of the eye was taken it was found that the shot was located in the back part of the eyeball. So an operation was absolutely necessary as the position of the shot would not only destroy the left eye, but would also injure the right eye.

After the eyeball had been removed from the socket in the operation it was found that the shot had passed through the eyeball and had pierced the lining of the eye socket. The operation was successful in every detail and the patient soon recovered from the effects.

The injured eye will be replaced by a glass one within the next two weeks.

AND THEY DID COME IN A STEADY STEAM

When They Read That Money Was Waiting at the Courthouse for Them.

FALLACY OF AN ADAGE

That notice about Thanksgiving money—fees due people over the country—fairly raised some people from the dead. They came in a steady stream yesterday at the court house and both County Clerk Posey and his deputy Will McColgin were busy handing the stuff out. 'Tis better to give than receive, but it is not quite so popular. One couldn't stir so many people to such sudden action with ten thousand "Empty Stocking" funds and the like.

MAKING A PLANT.

The Pennsylvania Railroad Company has just finished planting a forest of trees—and the good work was done at the advice of John P. Brown of Connersville, who has for years been an adviser in this matter for railroads in all parts of the country.

When a dentist in China is extracting a tooth for a patron, an assistant pounds on a gong to drown the cries of the patient.

BROWN BOY OF ORIENT HERE

Dr. George Jones Adopted Filipino For a Companion For His Young Son.

HE WEARS HIS FIRST MITTENS

Young Lad is Going to Study Here to Return to Philippines a Lawyer.

The erstwhile "Bill" Taft, now President-elect William Howard Taft affectionately calls them the "little brown boys of the East." We have one of them with us in Rushville now. He doesn't eat dogs—he's not that kind, and besides he came from another part of the islands. On the other hand he is a polite little fellow, good natured, bright and seemingly intelligent; although that would be hard to swear to for he speaks very little English and does not waste his time talking about such things as the latest scandal in Paris, et cetera.

His name is Pedro Cayubit and he hails from Dulag, on the island of Leyte in the Visayan group, if that means anything to you. He is fifteen years old and was brought to this country by Dr. George Jones, formerly of Rushville, who is now a surgeon in the regular army with headquarters at Fort Benjamin Harrison. Dr. Jones had his boy with him when he was in the Philippines and they brought the brown boy with them for a companion when they returned to the States. At present they are visiting friends here.

If you think the Filipinos are savages you should bump into one or more of them. For politeness they have the man who invented it still eating with his knife and taking off his hat to them. For instance when they are introduced and when they introduce a friend, no matter how well everybody is acquainted, they adhere to a strict formality. And after they talk with one whom they have just met, even if the conversation stretches into a half day and the names of both are frequently mentioned, when they get ready to take leave, they "fill" out a blank in conversation, something after this order: "My name is John Doe—I live at 23 Skidoo street, where my home is yours." Then you have to repeat such an invitation to the "party of the first part." It beats the "Americano" of "S'long. Come over." "Yep. Thanks."

Besides his native dialect—Visayan—Padro speaks Spanish and a bit of English. It might truly be called a smattering. He has hair as black and straight and brittle as a window washer that costs ninety-eight cents. He is stuck on America, but he is going back to his native land when he grows up and receives an education here. He is going to be a scribent, advocate, or to tell the naked truth, a lawyer. That shows he is a close observer of the easy money getters in this country.

This is the first time in his life that he ever saw any winter weather. It will be quite a treat to pelt him with a snowball, if we ever get any snow. He does not suffer from the cold yet; on the other hand he seems to enjoy it.

Pedro is featuring a large pair of white yarn mittens, the first he ever saw. He looks like a pall bearer, but he is as proud of those startling white mittens as an American boy is of his first pair of copper-toe, red top boots. Pedro likes the people "very much." Unlike many Filipinos fifteen years of age, he is single and has no children.

The Simon-pure Filipino language sounds like the Glicky Bluk dope. Pedro can reel it off by the yard. It does seem almost incredible that anyone in the world could understand a lot of gurgles and funny sounds like he belches up. He said the Pater Noster (the Lord's prayer) to a group yesterday and it sounded like a record was put in backwards on a phonograph. Nobody could surely expect to have prayers like that answered.

While her, Pedro met and talked with John Geraghty, who was supervisor of schools in the Philippines for five years. Both enjoyed the meeting. They could talk about you to "your very face" and not a soul in Rushville would be the wiser.

Just another thing, we want to say for the benefit of Prof. Nelson Brown and his friends here. In one part of the country where the brown lad came from there lives a man who is the father of fifty-seven children—not 57 varieties—but all a chip of the old block.

ELECTION CONTEST HEARING DELAYED

County Commissioners Will Hear Complaint of Richland Nominee December 11.

BOTH PARTIES AGREE ON DATE

The county commissioners met in the court house yesterday and voted to postpone the hearing of the contest for the office of trustee in Richland township until Friday, Dec. 11.

The Democratic nominee alleges that eight votes, enough to elect him, were illegally thrown out.

This vote was made by the commissioners after both parties had agreed to the postponement.

RACING SEASON WAS SUCCESSFUL

With Harrie Jones, Who Has the "Marked" Distinction of "Marking" Some Fast Ones

GOES INTO WINTER QUARTERS

Harrie Jones of Rushville, Ind., has gone into winter quarters with his stable, says the Western Horseman, after a very successful racing season. He retired his stable with the distinction of having marked the fastest four and five-year old green paces stallions, Gordon Prince Jr., 2:07 1/4, and John Ward, 2:05 3/4, respectively. Besides these, he gave McKaig Simmons a record of 2:05 1/4, and several other records of from 2:11 to 2:15.

ONLY 22 MORE DAYS.
 Do you know that there are but 22 more shopping days until Christmas? Do you know that the persons who buy early will get the pick of the holiday stocks, and will be able to get better attention than will be possible when the stores are crowded, as they will be later on? Don't you think that consideration for the salespeople, as well as self interest makes it advisable to buy early? Be wise. Don't wait.

BURIED ALIVE IN TILE DITCH

John Wheeler Encountered Thrilling Experience While at Work on Farm.

WAS BURIED BY A CAVE-IN

Companion Had the Greatest Difficulty to Keep Wheeler From Dying.

Buried alive in an eight-foot trench was the thrilling experience of John Wheeler of Washington township, who survives, with a stiff neck and bruised shoulder as the only mementoes, says the Shelbyville News. Tuesday while Wheeler was digging in the bottom of an eight-foot ditch, the side walls caved in, completely covering him. His cries for help attracted Thomas Wooley, who was assisting in the work. Wooley, with his hands, scratched the dirt from Wheeler's head and kept him revived while other men, with shovels, removed the dirt from about his body. An hour after the cave-in, Wheeler was lifted from the ditch.

He suffered intense pain and agony for a few hours, the opinion prevailing, for a time, that he received internal injuries.

Wheeler has almost recovered, however, a bruised chest and stiff neck serving as reminders of the thrilling experience.

EARTHQUAKE IN SHELBY CO

The Tremor Was Observed by Many People—Lasted Ten Seconds.

Shelbyville News: A very perceptible earth shock was noted in Shelbyville and the county about 8:30 o'clock Friday morning. No explanation has been offered. The tremor lasted not less than ten seconds and was of sufficient force to rattle the windows and shake the houses. The tremor was observed by an innumerable number of people, but none had an explanation.

RUDYARD KIPLING
The Greatest Living English Author

A small man, tanned and bronzed to a clear light mahogany, squarely built, with broad shoulders, keen blue eyes, heavy straight eyebrows, a thick dark mustache and square resolute jaw, dressed in clothes that shout defiance to fashion plates—this is Rudyard Kipling. Alive, alert, aggressive and intense, quick in movement, a bit cynical and quizzical, he at first suggests one thoroughly self-satisfied; one who is his own court of appeals.

At Bombay, the most cosmopolitan city of Asia, Kipling was born in Christmas week of 1865. His father was an Englishman, a professor of architectural sculpture in a Bombay college, and when Rudyard was six he was shipped back to England to be educated. At thirteen he entered the United Service College at Westward Ho, under the direction of old Indian officers. The atmosphere was military and Indian, and was doubtless a potent factor in coloring the mind of the boy, who acquired more by unconscious absorption than by direct study. It is true that he carried off the prizes in English literature in a matter-of-fact kind of a way, as if it were his assigned share of the plunder; but otherwise revealed no symptoms of genius.

At seventeen he went to India to work on the "Civil and Military Gazette" at Lahore, where his talent began to be recognized in a half patronizing way by the editor-in-chief. Strange, however, the "Plain Tales from the Hills," which gave him his first European success, and his "Departmental Ditties" were accepted under protest, to humor the boy, rather than for any merit the editors discovered.

A man of supreme individuality, he has the splendid courage of his convictions. He dared to lash England into a fight when the Boer war seemed to him imperative; he scourged the country he loved for her treatment of her soldiers; he inspired those soldiers by his stirring, tingling lines and martial stanzas, while Alfred Austin, the Laureate, was writing pink-lemonade verses guaranteed to offend no one. Then came his magnificent "Recessional"—a new classic added to our literature.

Kipling is the apostle of the strenuous; he loves color and paints it with love; he is thrilled by struggle, by power, by conquest. He shows man with the primal instincts and passions, nature unvarnished. He is often blunt to brutality, fearless to the point of frenzy, but always sincere, and always best when he lets the Oriental in his nature keep him close to the India he has reared to the world as no other English writer has ever done.

HANDS ACROSS WIDE PACIFIC

United States and Japan Enter Upon Agreement.

MUTUAL GUARANTY OF PEACE

Based on the Idea of Encouraging and Defending Free and Peaceful Commercial Development in the Pacific, the United States and Japan have Entered Upon an Agreement Covering the Policy of the Two Countries in the Pacific and Declaring for Friendly Alliance.

Washington, Nov. 28.—Despite official reticence, information from reliable sources has been obtained of an agreement of far-reaching importance between the United States and Japan covering the policy of the two countries in the Pacific. The agreement is based on the idea of encouraging and defending free and peaceful commercial development in the Pacific. It contains not only a mutual guarantee to respect each other's territorial possessions there, but defines the attitude of the two countries toward China, binding each to defend by every peaceful means China's independence and integrity, and to give equal commercial opportunity in the Chinese empire to all nations. But more important still, the agreement in the event of complications threatening the status quo, binds the United States and Japan to consult each other with a view to acting together.

The agreement has been drawn up in the form of a declaration and consists of five articles, of which the following is an accurate and faithful description. The first article gives expression to the wish of the two governments to encourage the free and peaceful development of their commerce in the Pacific. The second is a mutual disclaimer of an aggressive design and contains also a definition of the policy of each government, both as directed to the maintenance of the existing status quo in the Pacific, and the defense of the principle of equal opportunity for commerce and industry in China. The third article contains a statement of the consequent "firm" reciprocal resolution of each government to respect the territorial possessions in the Pacific of the other

NOTRE DAME LADY'S APPEAL

To all knowing sufferers of rheumatism, whether muscular or of the joints, sciatica, lumbago, backache, pains in the kidneys or neuralgia pains, to write to her for a home treatment which has repeatedly cured all of these tortures. She feels it her duty to send it to all sufferers FREE. You cure yourself at home as thousands will testify—no change of climate being necessary. This simple discovery banishes uric acid from the blood, loosens the stiffened joints, purges the blood, and brightens the eyes, giving elasticity and tone to the whole system. If the above interests you, for proof address Mrs. M. Summers, Box B, Notre Dame, Ind.

In the fourth article, the United States and Japan express their determination "in the common interest of all the powers" in China to support "by all peaceful means at their disposal" the independence and integrity of China and the principle of equal commercial and industrial opportunity for all nations in the empire. The fifth article mutually pledges the two governments, in case of the occurrence of any event threatening the status quo, as above described, or the principle of equal opportunity, as above defined, "to communicate with each other for the purpose of arriving at a mutual understanding with regard to the measures they may consider it useful to take."

STILL STIRRED UP

The Steinhil Case Keeps Parisians at Top Notch of Interest.

Paris, Nov. 28.—George Berry and Denys Cochin, Conservative members of the chamber of deputies, have announced their intention of interpellating the government on the attitude of the magistracy in the Steinhil case. This action is designed to raise the political side of the affair, with which the newspapers are becoming more and more occupied. Various new theories on the crime have been advanced since the arrest of Madame Steinhil, and there are many reports in circulation of impending important arrests.

Magistrate Andre has begun a new and completely independent investigation of the whole case, starting with a lengthy examination of Remy Coulaud, who was arrested last Saturday, charged with the murders, but subsequently released, and all the events connected with the discovery of the crime, particularly the position of the body of Madame Japy when it was found, and the manner in which it was bound to the bed.

Count Darton, whose name has been mentioned in connection with that of Mme. Steinhil, and at whose house in Paris Mme. Steinhil stayed for a few weeks after the murder of her husband, declared that she was an honest and an honorable woman. The count said, however, that he was convinced Mme. Steinhil was no longer possessed of her mental faculties, and he characterized the story that she was present at the death of Felix Faure as a base calumny. On the contrary, he declared, there was ample evidence to prove that she was at this time ill in her own home.

Perhaps the only thing that can be said in favor of the present style of balloon racing is that when the aeronaut drops into the sea he gets a new variety of thrill.

A party that was beaten by 690,000 in 1896, by 800,000 in 1901, by 2,500,000 in 1904 and by 1,200,000 in 1908 should not be so imprudent as to join in the search for the origin of the word "frazzle."

The ability of the Republicans to see and appreciate the real causes of the recent defeat in the State augurs well for a stronger, more virile and more progressive party in 1910 and 1912 than ever before. It is to be hoped that the present indications of party recovery will continue.

The Lawrenceburg Press suggests that the next general assembly ought to create a position which might be called a traveling auditor, whose duties would be to inspect the books of county officers and to secure a uniform method of keeping the business of each county. It would help very materially in preventing officers from getting mixed on fees and would save frequent expense of investigation.

A noted writer has said that the greatest calamity that could befall mankind is not war, famine nor pestilence, but a change in woman's dress by which bright colors would give way to somber hues. He bases this idea on the fact that many cities are large and flourishing because of the great industries established in them to minister to the feminine love of color. Fortunately the calamity hinted at is not likely to occur.

Speculation as to the future plans of Vice-President Fairbank has been set at rest. In an interview he stated positively that he entertains no ambition for further political honors of any kind, but immediately on the expiration of his term of office in March he will return to Indianapolis and resume the practice of law. That he will continue to take an interest in State politics goes without saying, but his relation will be that of advisor and helper.

The statistics of railroad casualties for the year ending June 30 last, show a gratifying decrease of 1,236 killed and 3,297 injured as compared with the previous year, the number killed being 3,764 and of injured 68,989, as against 4,900 killed and 72,286 injured the previous year. But encouraging as this decrease is, the number of casualties is still far too large and shows that greater precaution and more approved safety appliances are yet needed.

What Our Neighbors Are Talking About

NO POLICEMEN THERE.

(Knightstown Banner.)

Knightstown can now point to her record with pride for we are being good without a policeman or big stick. The council at their latest meeting accepted Charley Clark's resignation. He was elected to the office when the saloons were going here and he made a brilliant record prosecuting evil doers. Soon after he was made marshal the salary was increased to sixty dollars a month, probably the highest salary for the office that has been paid, but since the saloons are gone and everybody seems so peaceable the board thought the salary high. It was cut to forty dollars and Clark resigned.

Marshall Dill, Peter Wagner and Fred Sherrod sought the appointment but after some consideration Clark was re-elected to the office. He has refused to qualify or serve so we are now without a marshal.

ARE YOU FROM MISSOURI.

(Shelbyville News.)

Walter Kuhn of Walker township, Rush county, on the Shelby-Rush line, one day last week, in nine hours, shucked 127½ bushels of corn in nine hours says the Shelby News. The feat is the more remarkable when it is known Kuhn is not out of his teens. Figures show that the hourly rate was, approximately, fourteen bushels. Friends are willing to make affidavit that the young man really made the remarkable record and the scales used in weighing were not fish scales.

In figures so large they dazzle the performance proves a grandstand one but reduced to a less period of time is really the more marvelous. Any school boy will tell you that if Kuhn shucked 127½ bushels of corn in nine hours in one hour he would shuck fourteen bushels and in one minute almost one-fourth of a bushel of corn. In other words, every four minutes Kuhn filled a bushel basket with corn and the next moment had another basket partially filled.

AMUSEMENTS

Take a series of clever complications, add a bunch of comedians, stir in a handful of catch songs, mix with several shapely chorus beauties, place upon a stage dressed with handsome costumes and you have the average farce comedy. Take all the above and add to them the magic of Charles H. Hoyt's name and the fame of Gus Bothern and "A Bunch of Keys" easily makes the fun-making vehicle of the decade. Manager Grand M. Carr of the Grand theater has secured it for an attraction on next Tuesday night.

"A Bunch of Keys" is a screaming, screeching comedy, brimful of excitement, laughter and enjoyment. It was written in Hoyt's best vein and the years have not dimmed its brilliancy. A treat is in store for all who go to witness the antics of Grimes, the machinations of Littleton Snaggs and the delightful ingenuities of Teddy, Rose and May Keys, Manager Botner has engaged a brilliant company of players who will introduce refined specialties and render a score of the latest popular songs and ballads. "A Bunch of Keys" is a perennial delight, and it occupies a place by itself in the history of American stage lore. No farce comedy has been presented with success so continuously and none deserves better appreciation. Seats now on sale at Hargrove & Mullins.

Pictures that talk are very popular and they can still be seen at the Vaudet every evening. A complete change of program tonight with extra films besides the talking pictures. Miss Gregg will sing a new song.

The "Hoosier Boys' Quartette" will be the Vaudeville attraction at the Grand theater tonight. The members of this organization are the youngest in the State upon the stage. The moving pictures are the same as shown last night.

The Kramer skating rink will be open tonight. Large crowds every afternoon and evening this week

New York Fashion Letter

BY CATHERINE MANN-PAYZANT.

Now that the Horse Show, the first important dress display of the metropolitan social season, is a thing of the past, and the modistes and milliners have had time to study the tendencies of the winter's fashions, the dictates of style have become final. As in the past, the Madison Square Garden show was fashion's proving ground, and the styles and fabrics displayed there have been accepted as "the thing" for the coming season.

To the question "what is the most fashionable fabric?" one is puzzled to answer for there seems to be many fashionable fabrics and it is well that it is so for women now must have so many gowns. The women who attend the Horse Show are never seen in the same gown twice and modistes and merchants must provide a great number for both day and evening wear.

There were to be seen many velvets of fine luster, lovely colors and wonderful texture—light, fine and soft to a marvelous degree; satins whose tint surpasses anything ever yet seen in satins; rich clinging crepes; chiffon broadcloths of amazing lightness and silkiness and in a multitude of delicate shades; sheer nets and chiffon cloths and charming silk voiles; liberty silk and meteor and other light weight silks and handsome broadcades.

While there were to be noted gowns that depended wholly upon their cut, beauty of line and elegance of finish so becoming to certain figures, there are also gowns that were lavishly trimmed with embroideries and laces and braiding, fringes, passementeries, buttons and insets of other rich fabrics.

In this matter of decoration it would seem that the ingenuity and patience of the makers must have been taxed to the utmost, so varied and beautiful are the many modes of application. Trimmed gowns today are a positive extravagance, and outside of the great courts of the past, never were such prices and such elegance of treatment seen.

One Directoire model and the Directoire modes led at the Horse Show—was developed in velvet in a deep purple shade and the long jacket was trimmed in passementerie of the same shade. The reverse were trimmed with strips of embroidered cloth. The vest was of white brocade decorated with beautiful buttons. The skirt was made with a princess front, was long and clinging.

Chiffon cloth was decidedly a favorite at the Horse Show. And no material will be used more for the afternoon costume made in semi-princess style. The sleeves should be close-fitting extending will over the hand and sometimes cut in one with bodice. A pretty gown of this description would be effective in a plum colored broadcloth trimmed with a yoke and undersleeves of coarse lace out-lined with narrow bands of light brown fur.

Green was a color that was often seen and when trimmed with some soft tinted fur made a very effective development. The skirt was plain in semi-princess cut and dragged about the feet. A semi-loose jacket is made with side slits laced with silken ribbons and trimmed with fringe.

A number of stripped and dotted broadcloths are seen but they have not become a great favorite as yet, indeed they look too much like the foulards without the softness and suppleness of the foulards. Both dark and light grounds are used with contrasting dots and dices and stripes, although in the latter case one sees more frequently the self-toned stripe.

Of all colors, perhaps gray is after all the most popular. A very handsome costume in this color in French broadcloth was exhibited the other day. The usual long clinging skirt was in evidence, long enough that it had to be held up and it fastened on the side front with large velvet covered buttons. The jacket was long, open half way up the seams and decorated on each side of the slit with small buttons matching those on the skirt. The sleeves were long with large cuffs having points, big revers opening over a vest of Dresden brocade. The vest was short and from beneath it fell the long sash end of the girdle of liberty silk. The Croyable color opened in the front and was low enough to show the short Valenciennes jabot. The hat was a silk felt in gray, trimmed with black plumes and a high moss rose. Grey suede gloves and shoes and purse complete the costume.

Black relieved with some color is frequently seen both at the dressiest affairs as well as on the street. And to the woman who wishes an elegant costume that can be used for many occasions nothing is so serviceable and will serve so many purposes as the black broadcloth or other fine broadcloth costume.

A little later on in the season the black cloth skirt with the fur jacket will be often seen. The skirt will most frequently be made in princess style with a high girdle and guimpe or yoke and sleeves of heavy lace or net or fine silk.

A style, much affected both in velvet and cloth is the belted coat with the waistline raised above the normal line and defined by a high folded belt of satin.

Many of the coats are literally smothered in soutache and velvet piping and when many coats in season can be had it is an elegant addition to a wardrobe, but not a good choice where but one garment may be had.

Little fichu wraps trimmed with ermine or other fur of the softer kinds are liked for afternoon costumes and for receptions or carriage wraps. Some are made of chinchilla costumes and lace or ermine and lace. They are liked for wear over gowns of velvet.

A number of tapestry vests are to be seen in some of the most handsome gowns of the coat and skirt variety. And in nearly every costume that has any tendency towards the Directoire cut there is to be seen the long, soft sash of liberty silk. Some of the skirt and heavier waists are also trimmed with bands of the tapestry. And in the tunic models it is a most effect mode.

A Directoire skirt with coselet waist and tunic and tunic bodice in a voile of London smoke was banded with a fine thin tapestry showing Dresden colors. The same idea would be handsome carried out in black crepe de Chine with bands of black passementerie.

All shades of bronze are being exploited some are of a warm brown tint, some are dull in color and others are of a green shade and of these last there are some beautiful combinations decorated with black. It is one of the newest and most charming of the newer shades. Hats of bronze colored velvet trimmed with dull gold ornaments and dark brown or black plumes are very elegant and as a rule are becoming if the right shade of bronze has been chosen.

Mole color and damson are two popular shades for this season and the latter is especially liked for millinery purposes. A very handsome turban of dull silver and head and tail of fur. The fur should give the tone of contrast.

Amber is very fashionable both in jewelry and as trimmings on evening gowns. If any should have an old fashioned amber necklace they are in luck.

More fur is used on hats than usual this season, and as gray is a popular color, chinchilla is much used on taupe and other shades of gray felt and the ribbed silk shapes.

Rosettes of all sizes are being much used and they are more often seen on the fur toques than on any other shape or style of hat. They are usually of a bright color such as cerise on brown fur draped over with silver net and caught with a high garnet capuchon.

The "inverted basin" style of hat is extremely well liked and is a little smaller than those of the early season. The trimmings are laid closer to the brim and crown.

For the street, blue is a well-liked color and many blue serges and cashmeres will be seen this winter. The serge is the better goods for the street, but in a light or medium shade the cashmere is unequaled for a housegown.

What George Ade is to the American stage now, Charles Hoyt was fifteen years ago. His "A Bunch of Keys" is one of the best comedies he ever wrote.

Shelbyville Republican: The funeral services of the late Mrs. Caroline Scott, who died yesterday, will be held tomorrow at 8 a. m., at her late home in Walker street. The Rev. Smith will officiate. Interment will be in the cemetery at Falmouth, Rush county.

Gordon Woodruff was taken to Indianapolis yesterday to have an operation performed on his hip.

Many old time theatergoers will see "A Bunch of Keys." They all have pleasant remembrance of the work of Charles Hoyt.

Dr. E. I. Wooden has been appointed a member of the pension board, taking the place formerly filled by Dr. W. C. Smith.

Andersonville Herald: Dr. Sexton, assisted by his head nurse and Drs. Metcalf, McCannon and Green, performed a successful surgical operation upon Mrs. Tweed Davison of Buena Vista, Monday.

An all-day rally will be held next Sunday at the Second M. E. church in this city. The subject for the morning sermon at 10:30 o'clock is "Unity of the Spirit." Sunday school at 2:00 o'clock; and Rev. A. H. Shumake of the Second Baptist church will preach at 3:00 o'clock. The subject for the evening service at 7:00 o'clock is "Watchfulness."

In Connersville a series of "men's meetings" are being held on Sunday afternoons. These meetings are intended to uplift, raise the moral tone, and possibly augment the temperance sentiment. But when these meetings are championed and addressed by preachers of the Burkhart type (that is, preachers who worked and voted in favor of the brewery and saloon element in the recent election) then it would seem that this great movement had taken a backward step. Those in charge should see that men firm and conscientious in their convictions are affiliated with the work. It will give the movement a black eye if this point is not safe guarded.

BEEN AT COUNTER FOR FORTY YEARS

Atwell Morgan Has Had a Long Time of It in One Place.

OWNS ANDERSONVILLE STORE

Forty-three years is a long time in any ones life and yet we have a merchant in Andersonville who has been selling goods in the town for that length of time, says the Andersonville Four County Herald.

It was early in 1865 that Atwell Morgan began selling notions and groceries over the counter. For several years he clerked for R. Shriner in the old store and postoffice that stood on Main street where A. J. Shriner's new house now stands. The old building was destroyed by fire during the sixties. Afterwards Mr. Morgan entered the store of Harris and Bohannon in the building fitted up for a business room by Dr. J. P. Orr, then one of our leading physicians. The building is the same occupied by Mr. Morgan today.

Chapter 3

TO pick up once more and tighten and knot together the loosened threads which represented the unfinished record that his race had woven into the social fabric of the metropolis was merely an automatic matter for Selwyn.

His own people had always been among the makers of that fabric. Into part of its vast and intricate pattern they had woven an inconspicuously honorable record—chronicles of births and deaths and marriages, a plain memorandum of plain living and up-right dealing with their fellow men.

Some public service of modest nature they had performed, not seeking it, not shirking, accomplishing it cleanly when it was intrusted to them.

His forefathers had been, as a rule, professional men—physicians and lawyers. His grandfather died under the walls of Chapultepec castle while twisting a tourniquet for a cursing dragon; an uncle remained indefinitely at Malvern Hill; an only brother at Montauk Point sickened in the trenches before Santiago.

His father's services as division medical officer in Sheridan's cavalry had been perhaps no more devoted, no more loyal than the services of thousands of officers and troopers, and his reward was a pension offer, declined. He practiced until his wife died, then retired to his country home, from which house his daughter Nina was married to Austin Gerard.

Mr. Selwyn, Sr., continued to pay his taxes on his father's house in Tenth street, voted in that district, spent a month every year with the Gerards and judiciously enlarged the family reservation in Greenwood, whither he retired in due time.

The first gun off the Florida keys sent Selwyn's only brother from his law office in hot haste to San Antonio.

That same gun interrupted Selwyn's connection with Neergard & Co., operators in Long Island real estate, and a year later the captaincy offered him in a western volunteer regiment operating on the island of Leyte completed the rupture.

And now he was back again, a chance career ended, with option of picking up the severed threads—his inheritance at the loom—and of retying them, warp and weft, and continuing the pattern according to the designs of the tufted, tinted pile yarn knotted in by his ancestors before him.

Meanwhile he was looking for two things—an apartment and a job—the first energetically combated by his immediate family.

It was rather odd—the scarcity of jobs. Of course Austin offered him one, which Selwyn declined at once, enraging his brother-in-law.

"But what do I know about the investment of trust funds?" demanded Selwyn. "You wouldn't take me if I were not your wife's brother, and that's nepotism."

Austin's harmless fury raged for nearly ten minutes, after which he cheered up, relighted his cigar and resumed his discussion with Selwyn concerning the merits of various boys' schools, the victim in prospective being Billy.

A little later, reverting to the subject of his own enforced idleness, Selwyn said, "I've been on the point of going to see Neergard, but somehow I can't quite bring myself to it—slinking into his office as a rank failure in one profession to ask him if he has any use for me again."

"Stuff and fancy!" growled Gerard. "It's all stuff and fancy about your being any kind of a failure. If you want to resume with that Dutchman, go to him and say so. If you want to invest anything in his Long Island schemes he'll take you in fast enough. He took in Gerald and some twenty thousand!"

"Isn't he very prosperous, Austin?" "Very—on paper. Long Island farm lands and mortgages on Hampton hen-coops are not fragrant propositions to me. But there's always one more way of making a living after you counted 'em all up on your fingers. If you've any capital to offer Neergard, he won't shriek for help."

"But isn't suburban property?" "On the jump? Yes—both ways. Oh, I suppose that Neergard is all right. If he wasn't I wouldn't have permitted Gerald to go into it. Neergard sticks to his commissions and doesn't back his fancy in certified checks. I don't know exactly how he operates. I only know that we find nothing in that sort of thing for our own account. But Fane, Harmon & Co. do. That's their affair too. It's all a matter of taste, I tell you."

Selwyn reflected: "I believe I'd go and see Neergard if I were perfectly sure of my personal sentiments toward him. He's been civil enough to me, of course, but I have always had a curious feeling about Neergard—that he's forever on the edge of doing something—doubtful."

"His business reputation is all right. He shaves the dead line like a safety razor, but he's never yet cut through it. On principle, however, look out for an apple faced Dutchman with a thin nose and no lips. Neither Jew, Yankee nor American stands any chance in a deal with that type of finar ler. Personally my feeling is this: If I've got to play games with Julius Neergard, I'd prefer to be his partner. And so I told Gerald. By the way—"

Austin checked himself, looked down at his cigar, turned it over and over several times, then continued quietly:

"By the way, I suppose Gerald is like other young men of his age and times—immersed in his own affairs—thoughtless perhaps, perhaps a trifle selfish in the cross country gallop after pleasure. I was rather severe with him about his neglect of his sister. He ought to have come here to pay his respects to you too."

"Oh, don't put such notions into his head!"

"Yes, I will," insisted Austin. "However indifferent and thoughtless and selfish he is to other people, he's got to be considerate toward his own family, and I told him so. Have you seen him lately?"

"No-o," admitted Selwyn.

"Not since the first time when he came to do the civil by you?"

"No, but don't!"

"Yes, I will," repeated his brother-in-law, "and I'm going to have a thorough explanation with him and learn what he's up to. He's got to be decent to his sister. He ought to report to me occasionally. That's all there is to it. He has entirely too much liberty, with his bachelor quarters and his junior whipsnapper club and his house parties and his cruises on Neergard's boat!"

He got up, casting his cigar from him, and moved about bulky, muttering of matters to be regulated, and firmly too.

But Selwyn, looking out of the window across the park, knew perfectly well that young Erroll, now of age, with a small portion of his handsome income at his mercy, was past the regulating stage and beyond the authority of Austin. There was no harm in him. He was simply a joyous, pleasure loving cub, chock full of energetic instincts, good and bad, right and wrong, out of which, formed from the acts which become habits, character matures. This was his estimate of Gerald.

The next morning, riding in the park with Eileen, he found a chance to speak cordially of her brother.

"I've meant to look up Gerald," he said, as though the neglect were his own fault, "but every time something happens to switch me on to another track."

"I'm afraid that I do a great deal of the switching," she said, "don't I? But you've been so nice to me and to the children that—"

Miss Erroll's horse was behaving badly, and for a few moments she became too thoroughly occupied with her mount to finish her sentence.

The belted groom galloped up, prepared for emergencies, and he and Selwyn sat their saddles watching a pretty battle for mastery between a beautiful horse determined to be bad and a very determined young girl who had decided he was going to be good.

Once or twice the excitement of solicitude sent the color flying into Selwyn's temples. The bridge path was narrow and stiff with freezing sand, and the trees were too near for such lively maneuvers, but Miss Erroll had made up her mind, and Selwyn already had a humorous idea that this was no light matter. The horse found it serious enough, too, and suddenly concluded to be good. And the pretty scene ended so abruptly that Selwyn laughed aloud as he rejoined her.

"There was a man—Boots Lansing—in Bannard's command. One night on Samar the bolo men rushed us, and Lansing got into the six foot major's boots by mistake—seven leaguers, you know—and his horse bucked him clean out of them."

"Hence his Christian name, I suppose," said the girl. "But why such a story, Captain Selwyn? I believe I stuck to my saddle."

"With both hands," he said cordially, always alert to please her, for she was adorable when teased, especially in the beginning of their acquaintance before she had found out that it was a habit of his, and her bright confusion always delighted him into further mischief.

"But I wasn't a bit worried," he continued. "You had him so firmly around the neck. Besides, what horse or man could resist such a pleading pair of arms around the neck?"

"What you saw," she said, flushing up, "is exactly the way I shall do any pleading with the two animals you mention."

Later she remarked, "It's just as Nina says, after all, isn't it?"

"I suppose so," he replied suspiciously. "What?"

"That Gerald isn't really very wicked, but he likes to have us think so. It's a sign of extreme self-consciousness, isn't it," she added innocently, "when a man is afraid that a woman thinks he is very, very good?"

"That," he said, "is the limit. I'm going to ride by myself."

SAYS SPIRITS SWAYED HIM

Mishawaka Educator Under Some Mysterious Influence.

CAUSED HIM TO LEAVE HOME

President Kelly of Mishawaka Business College Returns After Several Months' Inexplicable Absence and Can Only Account for His Departure by the Declaration That His Mind Was Under the Sway of Some Mysterious Magnetic Influence Which He Was Powerless to Resist.

Mishawaka, Ind., Nov. 28.—Bert C. Kelley, president of the Mishawaka business college, who disappeared mysteriously from this city on Aug. 7, has returned. His case is a peculiar one. Kelley tells a remarkable story of mental affliction. He is unable to give a reason for deserting the institution he had built up here. He admits that he planned to leave Mishawaka, but asserts that some mysterious influence overpowered him, and that his mind was like a docile child in the sway of that magnetic spirit.

Kelley is an able instructor in phonography, and is a master of the pen in writing and sign work, besides being recognized as an expert accountant. He left the city without any apparent reason, and his return, nearly four months later, is as unexpected as was his departure. His wife has been suffering from nervous prostration since Kelley left, and has been at times in a serious condition.

HAVEN'T CLASSIFIED IT

Fairmount Naturalists Puzzled Over Bones of Monster.

Fairmount, Ind., Nov. 28.—That southeastern Grant county was, ages ago, a vast morass into which many huge beasts floundered, is shown by the discovery of the bones of prehistoric animals. A few days ago, while searching for a blind ditch, Frank Mart, a farmer, found beneath the soil on his farm east of this city the bones of animal which has not yet been classified. Though some of the bones are missing, enough have been found to indicate that the animal was eight or nine feet long and four feet high. The jawbone contains a tusk nine inches long. The bones were found at the top of a large beaver dam.

The find recalls the discovery of the skeleton, a few miles east of the Mart farm, three years ago, of one of the largest mammoths ever found in the world. This skeleton was almost intact. It was purchased by the Metropolitan museum of New York city, which paid the discoverers of the bones $1,000 for them. They are now mounted and form one of the finest specimens of the museum.

Night Riders Destroy Tobacco.

Homestead, Ind., Nov. 28.—A barn belonging to Frank Little and containing $1,000 worth of tobacco was burned last night, presumably by night riders. The tobacco was the property of H. Probst and a Mr. Kinrod. Thirty-five tons of hay and several farming implements, property of Little, were destroyed. An effort to find the incendiaries has so far proved unsuccessful. Two strangers were seen about the barn yesterday by Probst, the tenant, but he gave them little attention. Mr. Probst now believes the men were members of a band of night riders who planned the destruction of the tobacco.

Policeman Kills Burglar.

Indianapolis, Nov. 28.—Edward Pruitt, a merchant policeman, came upon a burglar in the act of breaking into a grocery at Eastern avenue and Washington streets. The burglar struck him a stunning blow over the head with an iron instrument. Pruitt, however, was not too dazed to whip out his revolver and fire three shots, two of which took effect, felled the burglar and caused his death. The burglar was Edward Fitzgerald, fifty years old, who had served a term in the Michigan city penitentiary for burglary.

Plucky Boy Saved Baby's Life.

Jasper, Ind., Nov. 28.—Three-year-old Clarence Dillon was saved from being burned to death at Irion by the timely arrival of Roy Witsman, twelve years old, who was on his way home from school. It is said that the Dillon boy was playing with matches in a shed adjoining John H. Keistein's barn. When the fire was discovered by the Witsman boy it had gained much headway and just after he rescued the little fellow the overhead timbers fell.

Teachers Adjourn Today.

Evansville, Ind., Nov. 28.—The annual convention of the Southwestern Indiana Teachers association in session here adjourned this afternoon after a very successful and interesting meeting, in which about 1,500 teachers participated. The Southwestern Teachers' association is one of the first of its kind to be organized in the state and embraces the teachers of about eighteen counties in this corner of the state.

Accordingly, it is not claimed that Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna is the only remedy of known value, but one of many reasons why it is the best of personal and family laxatives is the fact that it cleanses, sweetens and relieves the internal organs on which it acts without any debilitating after effects and without having to increase the quantity from time to time.

It acts pleasantly and naturally and truly as a laxative, and its component parts are known to and approved by physicians, as it is free from all objectionable substances. ARMY AND NAVY IN A GRIDIRON BATTLE

Much Gold Lace at Big Football Game Today.

Philadelphia, Nov. 28.—Wherever one looks into the crowd that jams the seats around Franklin field today one sees a uniform, either of the army or of the navy. From every corner of the earth in which Old Glory flies over a naval station or an army post the men who wear the blue have assembled here to see the West Point and Annapolis football eleven give battle to each other. All grades of the two services are represented, from ensign to rear admiral in the one and from second lieutenant to major general in the other. The gold laced officers of high rank share the attention of the vast crowd with the canvas clad pigskin chasers, but they are themselves too absorbed in the game to notice the attention they are getting.

It is the last big football game of the year that is being played here this afternoon and the culmination of the season for the two teams. For it Annapolis and West Point have reserved their best men and their secret plays. Each team has behind it this year a most creditable record and is keyed up to the highest pitch in the endeavor to wind up the year with victory over its dearest rival.

As the players of the two elevens trot out on the field the chief topic of discussion among the spectators is the wonderful defense which Annapolis is said to have perfected against the expected strong attack of the West Point team. The greatest care has been taken at Annapolis to keep the recent practice secret. The army, on the other hand, will rely today on the attack that enabled it to tear holes through the Villanova eleven last Saturday, rolling up a score of 25 points to 0. It is hard, however, to figure any comfort for West Point out of a comparison of the West Point-Villanova score with the score of 30 to 6 made at Annapolis two weeks ago against Villanova.

The army has tied Princeton, 0 to 0 and has held Yale to a 6 to 0 score. The navy's record is possibly even better, as it tied Harvard, the score being 6 to 6. Despite this comparison of scores the betting has favored West Point.

Aids Nature

The great success of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery in curing weak stomachs, wasted bodies, weak lungs, and obstinate and lingering coughs, is based on the recognition of the fundamental truth that "Golden Medical Discovery" supplies Nature with body-building, tissue-repairing, muscle-making materials, in condensed and concentrated form. With this help Nature supplies the necessary strength to the stomach to digest food, build up the body and thereby throw off lingering obstinate coughs. The "Discovery" re-establishes the digestive and nutritive organs in sound health, purifies and enriches the blood, and nourishes the nerves—in short establishes sound vigorous health.

If your dealer offers something "just as good," it is probably better FOR HIM...it pays better. But you are thinking of the cure not the profit, so there's nothing "just as good" for you. Say so.

President Says Newport Conference Is Not to Be Talked About.

Washington, Nov. 28.—That there shall be no further public discussion by naval officers concerning the Newport conference without permission of the president, is the purport of an order issued by Secretary Metcalf by direction of the president. On Oct. 30 the department issued an order permitting officers to discuss the work of this conference except so far as it applied to changes to be made on ships to be authorized in the future. The president now has concluded that public discussion of alleged defects of battleships will not serve any good purpose.

"It is directed that under no circumstances is any officer to discuss before the public or to give any information, directly or indirectly, concerning the Newport conference, or to discuss any question of naval policy, without submitting what he wishes to say to the secretary of the navy or through the secretary of the navy to the president of the United States, and officers will be held to strict accountability in this respect."

THE INTERNATIONAL STOCK SHOW OPENS

Much Interest Attaches to Great Exhibition Today.

Chicago, Nov. 28.—Beginning today and lasting two weeks, the International Live Stock exposition held here will be the greatest event of the sort in the world's history, according to competent stockmen. From all parts of the United States and Canada and from Europe breeders of fine stock have sent their best specimens here to compete for valuable prizes. All the standard breeds of cattle, sheep, swine and horses are represented, and in addition there are exhibits of dressed meat, stock feeds, dairy and wool shearing apparatus, etc.

The list of entries is the largest ever known in the annual expositions of the sort. All records have been broken in the nominations in the horse and cattle divisions. Nominations in the various divisions are as follows: Cattle, 1,239; sheep, 905; horses, 765; swine, 258; total, 3,167.

Although the stockmen assembled here for the exposition are delighted with the large number of entries, they expressed much disappointment over the determination of the federal agriculture department to prohibit the exhibit of cattle from Pennsylvania and New York owing to the prevalence of the foot and mouth disease in those states.

Chauffeur's Shocking Death.

Cleveland, Nov. 28.—A pillar of flame as he ran and leaped in his torture, Palmer Williams, aged twenty-six years, a negro chauffeur, was burned to death as the result of a gasoline explosion last night. Williams was employed by Isaac Flesheim and was working about the garage in the rear of Mr. Flesheim's home when an explosion occurred. Williams, his clothes afire from head to foot, dashed toward an alley. He was dead when neighbors came to his aid and beat out the flames.

Mrs. Clark Under Sentence.

Vermillion, S. D., Nov. 28.—Mrs. Christiana Clark, who was convicted of manslaughter in the second degree for the killing of her husband last August, has been sentenced by Judge Smith to three years and ten months at hard labor, the maximum punishment under the law.

A Hundred Filipinos Drowned.

Manila, Nov. 28.—The coasting steamer Ponting, carrying a large number of laborers from Narvacan to the rice fields in Pangasinan province, struck a rock and sank during a storm off the town of San Fernando, in Union province. It is estimated that a hundred of the passengers and crew of the Ponting were drowned. The steamer Vigaya rescued fifty-five.

LESS IDLE MACHINERY

Industrial Developments in the Direction of Improvement.

New York, Nov. 28.—Bradstreet's weekly review of trade today says: Wholesale trade, crop and industrial developments are generally in the direction of improvement, there is less idle machinery and the tone of affairs generally is still cheerful, but there are numerous irregularities noted in conditions in different sections and industries. The situation as a whole, therefore, lacks some of the uniformity which characterized it some time ago. Most optimism and strength is exhibited in the leading lines of domestic manufacture and wholesale trade, particularly as to the outlook for next year, and manufacturers are buying more freely of most raw materials, while wholesalers report evidences of scarcity in many lines.

MR. PAYNE TALKS TO VAN CLEAVE

Chairman of Tariff Committee Resents Criticism.

TO BE JUDGED BY THE PEOPLE

The Revenue Bill Now in Process of Preparation Will Speak for Itself, Says Mr. Payne, and Those Wise Prophets or Critics Who Are Judging It in Advance Are Not to Be Seriously Considered in Forming an Estimate of the Work Being Done.

Washington, Nov. 28.—"We are fully aware that the bill reported from the committee will be judged by the people, not in the light of view of those wise prophets or critics who are judging it in advance, but in the light of what will be learned from the bill itself and from an examination of material before the committee."

In these words Sen. E. Payne, chairman of the house ways and means committee, replied to a letter from J. W. VanCleave, president of the National Association of Manufacturers, criticizing the methods being pursued in revising the tariff. "Of course, if you have no information at your disposal which would aid the committee in the formation of a bill, I can understand your refusal to appear. If you have such information, I cannot see why you do not accept the invitation which has been extended to you and which is still held out to you, should you reconsider your determination," concluded Mr. Payne.

In his letter to the chairman of the ways and means committee, which was in reply to an invitation to testify at the tariff hearings before the committee, Mr. VanCleave says: "We would rather bear the ills of the Dingley tariff than to be a party to a tariff revision made in the old manner. To appear before you to plead for certain schedules would be to acquiesce in the superficial and unbusinesslike methods of investigation against which we protest. We have carefully watched all the statements that have been made by you and your associates in recent years, and instead of convincing us of the errors of our ways, we are more than ever convinced that your present plans of gathering information, on which the readjustment is proposed to be based, is wrong, radically, absurdly, fatally wrong."

Mr. VanCleave sets forth his views regarding an "expert, non-partisan tariff commission," and claims that it is impossible for the ways and means committee in the limited time at its disposal to make an inquiry which can furnish an adequate basis for any such tariff as the country demands.

There was little of interest brought out at yesterday's session of the committee, which was to finish up the hearing on the metal schedule. While automobiles are to be discussed fully at a later hearing, Charles H. Sherrill of New York appeared for the importers' automobile salon, in favoring a reduction on the tariff for automobiles. He charged that there is an automobile trust which expects to get the duty on automobiles increased. "Instead of an 'infant industry' which is seeking protection at the hands of your honorable committee," said Mr. Sherrill, "it could more properly be called a trust. Up to now all attempts to break this trust have failed because its foundation is a United States patent which is a monopoly granted by the government."

Mr. Sherrill asked that the duty on automobiles be reduced from 45 per cent to 30 per cent ad valorem, claiming that the manufacture of foreign automobiles involved the use of much American machinery besides bringing large business to the American carriage builders, who he said make 90 per cent of the bodies for foreign motor cars.

Girl's Terrible Confession.

Bellefonte, Ill., Nov. 28.—Miss Nellie Morton has confessed to Chief of Police Heisen and Prosecuting Attorney Trankenburg how she sat on the cot upon which lay Peter Waeltz and watched the old man slowly sink into unconsciousness, while Sydney Baker, her sweetheart, held a handkerchief saturated with chloroform over Waeltz's mouth and nostrils. The next morning Waeltz's body was found at the foot of the stairs with his skull crushed. Baker has disappeared. A warrant is out charging him with murder.

Lamphere Now in Penitentiary.

Michigan City, Ind., Nov. 28.—Ray Lamphere, sentenced to serve an indeterminate sentence for setting fire to the home of Mrs. Belle Guinness, was brought to the state prison by Sheriff Smutzer of Laporte. He was escorted direct to the clerk's window, where commitment papers were issued, and after the usual preliminaries, was placed in a cell. He will not be assigned to work for several days.

Mr. Tang Pushing Along.

BY THE WAYSIDE

Two young lads from Indianapolis with a large touring car had their troubles here yesterday. Up until six o'clock they had a de-lightful time with some friends they knew here. As they were ready to leave a tire burst and a new one had to be substituted. Under full steam they left the city. About midnight they came hiking back. They were stranded.

Stranded on the pike two miles from here and not one oasis of gasoline within reach. Everywhere they tried to get gasoline but there was nothing doing. They even awakened a tailor and implored him to loan them some from his cleaning pan. Tom Conroy at the Conroy cafe came to their rescue with a gallon and the boys returned here for the remainder of the night.
